Ballot is Necessary Say Parker Men

BUT OPPONENTS FORM A COMBINATION

For First and Second Ballot at St. Louis.

PENNSYLVANIA FOR PARKER

Pettigrew Aiding Bryan and Hearst Forces To Prevent Stampede For the New York Jurist.

St. Louis, July 5.—(Bulletin)—The Parker leaders estimate that he will have 608 votes on the first ballot. This is enough to nominate.

HARMON BOOM.

St. Louis, Mo., July 5.—At 10:30 today anti-Parker leaders authorized Marlan Cleveland, in charge of the Harmon boom, to wire Harmon at Cincinnati, to have a letter in St. Louis Wednesday morning stating what his position was in 1896. If this letter satisfies Bryan, Harmon will be the choice of the anti-Parker men and they will concentrate their strength on him to beat Parker.

ANTI-PARKER

Leaders Announced Today That a Combination Against the New Yorker Has Been Effected.

St. Louis, July 5.—The most sensational move of the entire political situation was made today, when at 10 o'clock it was announced by the anti-Parker leaders that a combination against Parker had finally been effected.

The strength of Olney, Wall, Cockrell, Harmon and Gray formed the nucleus of the deal. The Bryan and Hearst forces complete it.

The basis for this move were petitions secretly circulated during the night by the anti-Parker men, which were numerous. It is confidently announced that 400 votes are in the combine, all pledged against Parker on the first and second ballots. The pact does not extend beyond that period, but the anti-Parker men are just as skillful in the game of politics as their opponents, and with this fresh hold, will be able to defeat Parker. They say the future will take care of itself, and declare that the Gotham jurist is now in a most dangerous position, being within striking distance of the goal and not able to clinch it. These states, with favorite sons are claimed to be solidly held in the agreement of the anti-Parker men: Missouri, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Ohio and Delaware, representing 146 votes. All the power of the new machine constructed in the pact has been set to work to win back Guffey, of Pennsylvania, thereby weakening the effect of the coup by the Parkerites. Last night, when they showed that they had landed Pennsylvania. Votes from Kentucky are also expected by the anti-Parker men.

The onslaught against the Parker column is fierce. Tammany leaders again openly threatened the defeat of Parker, if nominated.

"Better that he be beaten in the convention than in the election," they declared.

This had the effect of frightening many of the rural delegates. Bryan and his friends were enveloped in an air of mysterious hope.

"The Nebraskan is in the saddle and riding hard in the effort to overtake the enemy," said his friends.

HEARST MEN ACTIVE.

St. Louis, July 5.—The Hearst people are buoyant. The Hearst managers say that all the delegates that were instructed and pledged would stand firm and vote for Hearst to the last. They were assured by John R.

Hopkins, of the Illinois delegation, that Hearst would receive the solid vote of Illinois as long as he was in the field. A large amount of Hearst literature was distributed among the delegates showing what he had done for reform and for the party.

FOR FAVORITE SONS.

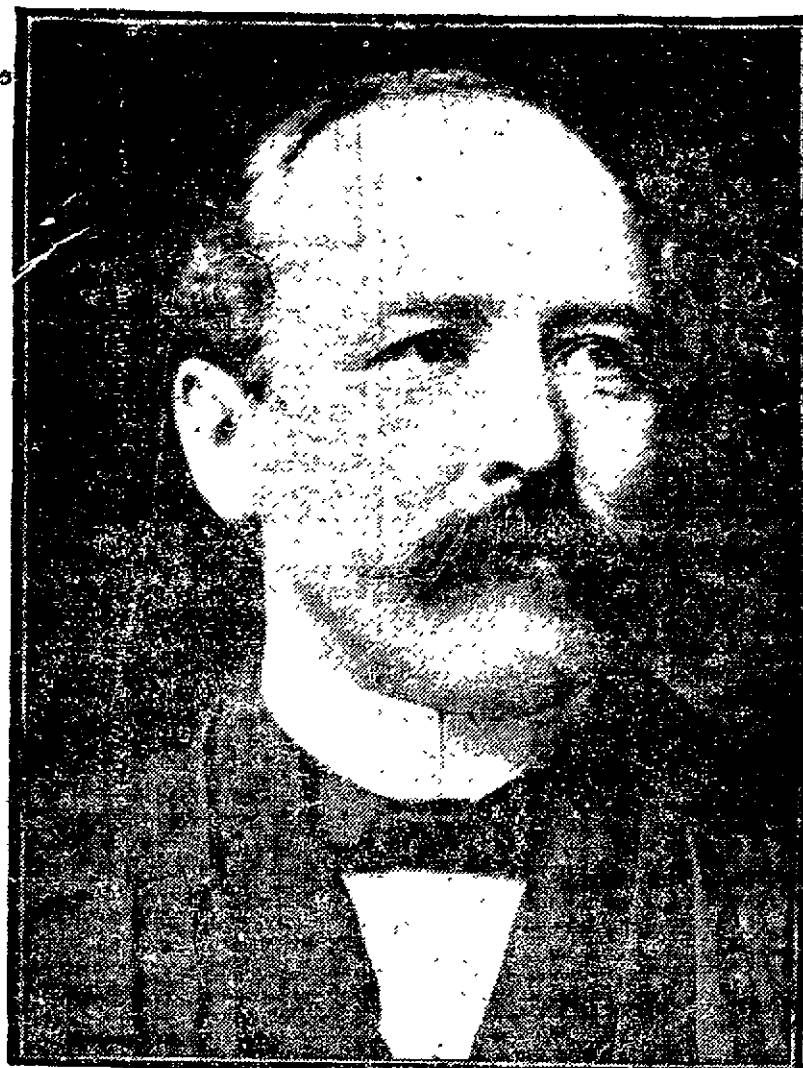

St. Louis, July 5.—It is declared that all leaders for favorite sons signed against Parker are as follows: Ex-Senator Pettigrew, for Hearst; Sauls-launched. This time it is in the interests of United States Senator A. O. Bacon, of Georgia, one of the great constitutional authorities of the upper house of congress.

His delegations, which is for Parker, without a second choice, has agreed to support Mr. Bacon to the last ditch.

bury of Dakota, for Gray; Marlan Cleveland of Cincinnati, for Harmon; Senator W. J. Stone of Missouri, for Cockrell, and authorized leaders in Massachusetts and Wisconsin, for Olney and Wall.

Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland today said: "I am afraid it looks like Parker out am hoping someone else will be nominated."

PETTIGREW

Is Aiding the Bryan and Hearst People In Effort To Prevent Parker Stampede

St. Louis, July 5.—Ex-Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota, credited with being one of the shrewdest political strategists in the Democratic ranks, is aiding the Bryan and Hearst people in their efforts to prevent a stampede to Parker. The Senator says he will urge the insertion of a plank in the platform providing for Governmental ownership of railroads. Of President Roosevelt the Senator says: "I like him fairly well, but from his blood-thirsty characteristics one might take him for some belated Gaul."

NEW JERSEY

Will During the Day Decide Whether To Place Cleveland's Name Be- fore the Convention.

St. Louis, Mo., July 5.—Late today it will be known positively whether New Jersey will formally place the name of Grover Cleveland in nomination. A meeting has been called by the chairman of the delegation to be held in Lincoln. James R. Nugent of Newark, one of the delegates, today said: "The sentiment in our delegation is for Cleveland and we are simply waiting. There are 21 of us, and we are united for Cleveland. There is no question in my mind that if Cleveland is nominated he will be elected and repeat his victories in Wisconsin and Illinois. If it is decided not to place the name of Mr. Cleveland in nomination, all I can say is that our delegation as a whole regards Gray of Delaware, very favorably."

THE CLEVELAND BOOM.

St. Louis, July 5.—About 100 New Jersey shouters are here with the New Jersey delegation and if Cleveland's name should be sprung, they will help the thing along.

BOOM FOR BACON.

St. Louis, July 5.—Another sturdy vice presidential boom has been der tomorrow will be of historical material. The Erie, Pa., delegation have had it constructed of timber of Commodore Perry's flagship.

PARKER AND TURNER.

St. Louis, July 5.—Senator DuBois of Idaho, thinks the ticket will be Parker and Turner of Washington.

SAYS PARKER WILL WIN.

St. Louis, July 5.—N. E. Mack of New York, says today that Parker will have over 500 on the first ballot and over 700 on the second.

GORMAN'S SON

Reached St. Louis Monday Night and Announced That His Father Is Not a Candidate.

St. Louis, July 5.—Senator Gorman's son, who arrived here late last night, announced positively that his father is not a candidate for the presidential nomination, and that his name will not be presented to the convention.

A. P. GORMAN.

WM. J. BRYAN

Says the Additions To the Parker List Are Not Sufficient To Insure His Nomination.

St. Louis, July 5.—In an exclusive statement for the Scripps-McFae Press Association, Mr. Bryan today gave his opinion on the situation as it was at 9 o'clock: "The situation is unchanged. The additions to the Parker list are not sufficient to insure his nomination. I take it for granted that there will be a strong anti-trust plank in the platform."

Far from surrender was the attitude of the anti-Parker men in touch with Mr. Bryan today. The Nebraskan (Continued on Page 6, Second Col.)

NEARLY 700 PEOPLE LOST THEIR LIVES

Emigrants Aroused from Sleep Thrown Into Panic.

BURGOYNE DISASTER RE-CALLED

Appalling Accident In the North At- lantic When the Danish Steamer Norge Went Down.

New York, July 5.—A strange coincidence in connection with the Norge steamship disaster which cost about 700 lives, is found in the fact that news thereof is made public on the anniversary of the tragedy of the French line steamship La Burgoyne, sunk in collision with the Cronartyschire, south of Sable Island July 4, 1898.

Of the 539 people on board only 159 were saved. Of all the women passengers only one was saved and the panic when the ship went down still forms one of the most shocking tales of the deep.

Liverpool, July 5.—Twenty-seven survivors of the Scandinavian-American liner Norge, which was wrecked off Rockall last Tuesday, who were taken to Grimsby, sailed for Boston today aboard the Cunard liner Saxonia. Other survivors will be forwarded to America as soon as arrangements can be made for their accommodation by the Scandinavian line officials.

London, July 5.—Nearly 700 Danish and Norwegian emigrants bound for New York were drowned in the North Atlantic on June 28. Out of 800 people on board the Norge, a Danish steamer, only a few have been saved.

A lone pile of granite rising sheer out of the Atlantic 200 miles from the Scottish mainland, is now a monument to almost 700 dead. Bodies wash against the rocks or lie in the ocean bed at its base. Nearly completely hidden in the water is the Norge, which was carrying 800 Danes, Norwegians Swedes and Finns to join relatives or friends in America. Of these only about 130 were saved.

The passengers were suddenly aroused from their sleep, terrified by the contact of the bows of the ship with the solid granite, followed by a grinding sound as if the hull was being shored over huge rocks. Then silence, as the clanging bells brought the engines to a stop. Those of the passengers who were standing at the time the steamer struck the rock were thrown against the bulkheads or on the decks and had not recovered their feet when a stentorian voice gave the terrifying order: "All hands on deck! Hurray, or you may sink!"

Immediately there was a rush for the narrow companionways and men, women and children struggled and made every other effort to reach the deck. Many persons seized life preservers only to find in some instances that the strings were rotten. Those who reached the deck saw the nose of the Norge pinned directly against the rock.

It remained there only a few minutes for Captain Gundell, who had gone to the bridge, gave the order to the engine room to reverse the engines.

Slowly the ship backed off and as she gained way it was found that water was pouring into her hold.

The passengers who were piled in the boats were the fortunate ones to escape while the unfortunates, who saw death here, clustered in the vicinity of the straining mast, praying, surrounded by children, others supplicating aid from any one and shrieking for permission to enter the boats, elbowing, fighting their way to the places from which the boats were being lowered.

The sound of grinding ceased and the bow of the Norge yawned as the steamer struggled to deep water. The sea rushed hungrily into the huge rent made by the rocks in the iron hull. Slowly the vessel began to sink by the bows. Without waiting for orders, without paying attention to their proper manning, the occupants began to lower the boats. The starboard lifeboat began slowly to fall, when to the horror of those on board the stern tackle failed, while the bow tackle ran free. Soon the boat was almost perpendicular. Those who were in it clung desperately to the sides and seats until a great wave came towering along and struck the boat, smashing it against the side of (Continued on Page 8 Third Col.)

A Day of Mourning at Litchfield

DEAD NUMBER NINETEEN THE INJURED 50

Frightful Wreck on the Wabash Road in Illinois.

MISPLACED SWITCH WAS CAUSE.

Train Running Fifty Miles an Hour When the Crash Came—List of Dead and Injured.

Litchfield Ill., July 5.—Instead of holding the celebration that had been planned to commemorate the natal day of the republic this city was a scene of mourning. Festivities of all kinds were declared off, owing to the appalling wreck on the Wabash Sunday in which a score were killed and 50 injured.

St. Francis Hospital is crowded with the wounded, cots having been placed in the corridors to accommodate them. The following is the latest revised list of the dead:

Mrs. Florence Smith, 215 Twenty-fifth place, Chicago.

Mrs. Perkins, 5700 Union avenue, Chicago.

Charles Galaise, 2254 Michigan avenue, Chicago.

Harry M. Dietrich, Chicago.

Mrs. C. F. Luther, Milwaukee.

Isaac R. Mills, Decatur.

Ubalde St. Pierre, Montreal, Canada.

Jacob Barber, Park River N. D.

L. A. Eichstadt, Chicago.

James Sanford, engineer, Decatur.

Rev. N. M. Mills, Bridgeton, N. Y.

Four unidentified men.

The injured are the following:

James Brann, Chicago, leg injured.

Wm. J. Shrader, Chicago, hip and back injured.

Henry M. Gassaway, St. Louis, left arm broken and injured internally.

James R. Roberts, Catlin, Ind., internal injuries.

Mrs. Caniyou, Milwaukee, internal injuries.

S. A. Asquith, Waterloo, Iowa, internal injuries.

Harry S. Rubens, Chicago, slight injuries.

Mrs. Anna Kenyon, Kingston, N. Y., right leg badly mashed and face injured.

Miss Eliza Townsend, Bridgeport, Conn., slight injuries.

Mrs. S. E. Smith, Chicago, bruised and internal injuries.

Four other injured unknown.

The misplaced switch which caused the wreck has not been accounted for. A fast train passed safely over the road a short time before the ill-fated train was due, and after that there is no record of any switching done at that point.

The Wabash train that was wrecked ran into an open switch while going over 50 miles an hour. When the locomotive struck the switch the fearful force of the contact threw it off the track and it plowed into the earth beside the rails, dragging with it in its course the baggage, express and five passenger cars, all well filled with passengers. The observation car and private car remained on the track and their occupants were uninjured.

COSTLY

Was Celebration of Glorious Fourth

TWENTY-FIVE DEAD AND 1977 INJURED

By the Premature Explosion of Fireworks Monday.

TOY PISTOL VICTIMS NUMEROUS

In Marked Contrast Was Celebration of the Day in Newark Which Had a "Sane" Fourth.

Thanks to Mayor Crilly and the vigilant police department, Newark had a "sane" Fourth of July this year and consequently there are no accidents of importance to announce. In marked contrast to the celebration of the day in Newark is that in many cities over the country. So far as heard from eleven people are dead, 1167 injured, and property to the amount of $140,000 was destroyed as a result of the "celebration" on Monday. Carefully gathered statistics show that a year ago 406 young people died of lockjaw caused by Fourth of July accidents in 1903. Monday's record is given in the subjoined dispatch.

Chicago, Ill., July 5.—The Tribune's "annual report" of casualties resulting from Fourth of July celebrations all over the country today records a total of 25 dead and 1977 injured, and a property loss of $177,800.

Chicago, Ill., July 5.—Eleven persons dead, 1,167 injured, and a property loss amounting to $140,000 is the price which the United States paid for its Fourth of July celebration yesterday, and the deaths from lockjaw will probably double or triple the number of fatalities already listed.

Of the injured 177 were hurt by firecrackers, sky rockets or other explosives, and nearly all the dead owed their fate to these. Cannon prematurely exploded brought death to two persons and injuries to 101; firearms, including revolvers and guns, caused the hurts of 171; gunpowder and dynamite mistaken for gunpowder severely hurt 220 persons and the deadly toy pistol this year claimed 209 victims. Runaways caused by explosions injured 39 persons, and in such an accident a woman lost her life.

Chicago this year escaped fortunately in comparison with the past. A new feature was the absence of a death roll in Chicago, but 41 persons were injured. Fireworks were responsible for the hurts of these, and nearly every one in the list was a victim of cannon crackers or other explosives, which dealers by law are prohibited from selling and purchasers warned not to set off.

Cannons caused the injuries of three, and five persons suffered from firearms. Gunpowder had five victims. The fire loss was the smallest in many years—$7,509.

The fire loss throughout the country likewise was extremely small, the largest damage reported being $50,000 in Boston. Janesville, Wis., suffered a $35,000 fire, caused by a skyrocket. Small boys fired the stick and it stuck on the roof of the Rock River Cotton Company's mill, where the blaze smoldered for six hours before it was discovered.

Baltimore, warned by its disastrous fire, restricted the use of explosives as, it is reported, never before has been done in an American city.

The toy pistol also was practically suppressed in Chicago owing to the passage of an ordinance forbidding the sale. The result of the crusade was that no one was injured by them.

Many persons in various parts of the country were injured because they believed dynamite was gunpowder and tried to fire it in the same way. Two boys were hurt in Fairbury, Ill. while using dynamite in a cannon. A boy in Findlay, Ohio, brought home a stick (Continued on Page 5.)

Women who work, whether in the house, store, office or factory, very rarely have the ability to stand the strain. The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women, and adds further proof that woman's great friend in need is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered misery for several years. My back ached and I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restless sleep in such pain and misery that it would be hours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was highly recommended to me. I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot."—Miss FRANKIE ORSER, 14 Warrenton St., Boston, Mass.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is responsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

The case of Mrs. Lennox, which follows, proves this.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Last winter I broke down suddenly and had to seek the advice of a doctor. I felt sore all over, with a pounding in my head, and a dizziness which I had never experienced before. I had a miserable appetite, nothing tasted good, and gradually my health broke down completely. The doctor said I had female weakness, but, although I took his medicine faithfully, I found no relief.

"After two months I decided to try what a change would do for me, and as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was strongly recommended to me I decided to try it. Within three days I felt better, my appetite returned, and I could sleep. In another week I was able to sit up part of the day, and in ten days more I was well. My strength had returned, I gained fourteen pounds, and felt better and stronger than before.

I had for years. I gratefully acknowledge its merits. Very sincerely yours, Mrs. BERT E. LENNOX, 120 East 4th St., Dixon, Ill."

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

AMUSEMENTS

The first vaudeville show of the season was witnessed by a standing-room only audience at Idlewild Monday.

The bill is one of the strongest and most pleasing ever presented at the Casino. The Adams' open the show with a clever musical act, and are followed by Ernest Ward, who sings good songs with a good voice.

Jansen, the illusionists, completely fools the audience by his disappearance. Rena Arnold, in monologue, seemed to catch the audience. Jones and Walton, in their comedy sketch, made the hit of the evening. The "Fiddling" of Mr. Jones and the dancing of Miss Walton completely won the audience. The bill runs for the rest of the week.

For the first time in years, Newark had a "sane" celebration of the Fourth of July on Monday and consequently there are no accidents of consequence to report.

While other cities of the state and nation celebrating in the usual, old-fashioned way, come forward today with accounts of disasters, many of which are horrifying in their details, Newark stands out almost alone and proudly announces that Independence Day was observed here no less patriotically than elsewhere, but with greater regard for the value of life and limb.

The credit of this sensible celebration rests wholly with Mayor A. J. Crilly, and the vigilant police force. Mayor Crilly announced on Saturday that the law regulating the sale of firearms and the discharge of dynamite crackers and blank cartridge pistols would be strictly enforced. The deadly toy pistol, the cannon cracker and the like were tabooed and the police officers made it their business to see that the orders were carried out. During the day one dealer was fined $5 for selling a dynamite cane and in other instances small boys were relieved of firearms that came within the ban of the law.

The mayor and the police are to be congratulated for their successful effort to give Newark a sensible celebration of Independence Day.

THE PROBABLE NOMINEE.

The dispatches from St. Louis bring the news that Senator Gorman's name will not be presented to the convention and that Pennsylvania will cast her votes for the New York jurist, Alton B. Parker, whose nomination for the presidency at the hands of the Democratic National Convention now seems assured. Friends of the New York judge declare that he will be nominated on either the first or the second ballot.

The interest in the contest for the Democratic nomination for the presidency has to a considerable extent obscured that in the platform to be adopted ed at St. Louis. Nevertheless the candidates and leaders have not lost sight of this important matter, and the latter have gone to St. Louis with well-defined views upon the subject. The important questions to be considered will be those of the tariff, the trusts and the currency. Upon the two former questions there will probably be little difficulty in agreeing upon declarations which will be satisfactory to all Democrats. But there is a considerable division upon the currency question. Upon this point the Philadelphia Record says with much truth that the party "should accept fully and unconditionally accomplished facts." It was because of divisions upon this question that the party encountered defeat four and eight years ago, and now that it is once more reunited there is no reason why it should try to revive dead issues.—Pittsburg Post.

Ninety Dollars Out of Ten.

If there is any flaw in the logic of this story, for which the Kansas Ranch News is responsible, it is not easy to find: Mr. Brown, a Kansas gentleman, keeps a boarding house, it appears. Around his table at a recent occasion sat his wife, Mrs. Brown; the village milliner; Mrs. Andrews, Mr. Black, the baker; Mr. Jordan, a carpenter, and Mr. Hadley, a flour, feed and lumber merchant. Mr. Brown took a $10 bill out of his pocketbook and handed it to Mrs. Brown, with the remark that there was $10 toward the $20 he had promised her. Mrs. Brown handed the bill to Mrs. Andrews, the milliner, saying, "That pays for my new bonnet." Mrs. Andrews in turn, passed it on to Mr. Jordan, remarking that it would pay for the carpentering work he had done for her. Mr. Jordan handed it to Mr. Hadley, requesting his receipted bill for flour, feed and lumber. Mr. Hadley gave the bill back to Mr. Brown, saying, "That pays $10 on my board." Mr. Brown again passed it to Mrs. Brown remarking that he had now paid her the $20 he had promised her. She in turn, paid it to Mr. Black to settle her bread and pastry account. Mr. Black handed it to Mr. Hadley, asking credit for the amount on his flour bill. Mr. Hadley again returning it to Mrs. Brown, with the remark that it settled for that month's board; whereupon Brown put it back into his pocketbook, observing that he had not supposed a greenback would go so far. —Harpur's Weekly.

JAPANESE PRISON LIFE

Plain Food and Reasonable Labor For the Prisoners.

DISCIPLINE IS ENTIRELY MILITARY

Convicts Are Not Considered Fallen Creatures or Social Outcasts—Every Effort Made to Elevate the Inmates. No Difference Between the Prisons and Huts of Free Peasants.

The following article was written by J. Legras in the Revue Penitentiaire of Paris and translated for Public Opinion.

That which is especially striking at first sight in a Japanese prison is that there is no difference between the prison and the hut of the free peasant, the Japanese declaring that if the prison were elevated to the level of a modern penitentiary it would be too attractive and would increase crime. Upon approaching the prison, in place of high and forbidding walls, you see a large country house, with a series of out-buildings, the prison itself being completely open, while the wooden bars at the windows have nothing of the forbidding aspect of our iron gratings. The interior of the building is completely open, although formerly at Ichigoi there was a corridor separated from the building by a paper wall where the guards slept. The food given the prisoners is in proportion to their conduct and industry, the prisoners who do not conduct themselves as they should receiving a cake of rice which must last for seven days, while in the case of the orderly prisoners the same cake lasts for only four days. The prisoners who conduct themselves properly receive also a little horse meat, with potato or pea sauce, with their meals.

The labor in the greatest of the Japanese prisons, at Ichigoi, is forced, but the buildings in which the work is performed are clean and perfectly ventilated, and in fact are model work-rooms which to most workmen would appear all that could possibly be desired. Some prisoners are employed in hard work, such as the thrashing of rice in primitive mills, but only the most robust are made to perform such service.

The hours for the hard labor are from seven to eight per day, the less strong inmates of the penitentiary being employed in weaving clothing for the prisoners out of a coarse, rose colored linen, while old people and the sick are seen on all sides calmly sorting out various kinds of paper. All of the prisoners receive a portion of the profit derived from their labor, although this to a European would not be much.

The discipline which has been established in the various prisons is entirely military, and it should be stated that a prisoner is not considered a fallen creature or one to be excluded from society because of the fact that he has served his time. From a moral and material standpoint there is no difference between a prisoner and a free man, and in the prisons every effort is made to elevate the inmates, all of the youths less than nineteen years of age passing two hours per day at school. In many cases prisoners, when they have finished their sentences, remain in the prisons as domestic. There is also a curious legal provision which states that they can only leave the prison when surety is provided by parents or friends. Thus it may happen that a student of twenty-three years of age condemned to the prison for sixty days for the theft of a book, because of the fact that he has no one to go his security and thus be responsible for his release, remains buried for life in the prison. The idea of the law is not unjust, however much it may appear so, the purpose of the regulation being to assure the prisoner a solid base on which to re-enter society. In order to remedy this condition little by little there have been formed societies which take in hand the cases of unprotected prisoners.

STORK'S NEST FLATS.

Landlord Beal Wants Tenants With Large Families.

Edmund Beal of Alton, Ill., recently completed a big flat building, which he has named the Stork's Nest, says a dispatch from Alton. Tenants with children are given preference. The owner announced that the new apartments were exclusively for married people and that the presence of children would be a recommendation instead of a bar. Mr. Beal believes that large families are a good thing for a city. He has decided to set an example to other landlords by providing a place where couples may live without being in fear of eviction or increase in rent if there is an increase in the size of their families.

Earnestness of Japanese.

As an evidence of the interest and earnestness of the Japanese it is customary among the tradespeople whenever a family that they have been supplying with the necessities of life is deprived of the father of the family in consequence of his going to the war to continue to supply all their needs the same as before and without sending any bill therefor.

Youths in Japan's Navy.

The average age of the Japanese navy is lower than that of any other navy in the world, says the Chicago Journal. No one over twenty years old is accepted for enlistment. The average height is five feet four inches, less than the average height of any other navy in the world.

LOFTY ROOF GARDENS.

Features of Two For Top of Manhattan Bridge Over East River.

Two small roof gardens, the finest of the kind in the world, will crown the anchorages of the new Manhattan bridge over the East river at New York. The plans were designed by Richard S. Buck, the consulting engineer of the department of bridges, says the New York World. The anchorage towers, of which there is one on either shore, do not extend above the roadway of the bridge, which simply passes along over the anchorage towers. The roadway of the structure there has been widened about six feet on each side, so that the area of that part of the roadway over the anchorage towers is 225 feet long by 175 feet wide. This open space, across which the trolley tracks will run, is larger in area than any theater in New York city.

A pavilion or colonnade, the stone roof of which is to be supported by massive stone pillars, is to be built along the outer edge of either promenade, extending two-thirds of the distance along the top of the anchorage towers. These breeze swept pavilions will be 120 feet above the river, directly overlooking the water and commanding a panoramic view up and down the stream from Long Island City to Staten Island and over the entire boroughs of Brooklyn and Manhattan.

The roof of each of the four pavilions, or roof gardens, will be supported by six double pillars. There will be seats in the pavilions and also ample room for standing, so that several hundred sightseers may be accommodated in each colonnade. The colonnades will open out on the main bridge promenade, and the floor of the colonnade will be on a level with the promenade.

The Manhattan bridge, which is to extend from Fulton street and Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn, to Canal street, in Manhattan, will cost at least $10,000,000 and possibly $15,000,000. It will be very wide. The entire structure will be elaborately lighted by electricity, and the tops of the anchorage towers and the colonnades will be so illuminated as to present a real fairy-land effect at night.

GIRL'S UNUSUAL FEAT.

South Dakota Horsewoman Captured Young Antelope After Long Chase.

A South Dakota girl, Miss Lucille Wilson, who is at present "roughing it" on her brother's cattle ranch near Hampshire, Wyo., according to letters received by relatives living south of Sioux Falls, has distinguished herself by running down and capturing two young antelope, says a Sioux Falls dispatch.

Miss Wilson is a good rider and was returning from a long ride to the ranch when she espied a herd of about fifty antelope feeding in one of the "dips" in the prairie. Miss Wilson succeeded in riding quite close to them before they became aware of her presence. The animals took flight immediately upon catching sight of Miss Wilson and her horse.

She noticed two little fawns in flight beside their mother, and she instantly urged her horse forward and gave chase. The baby antelope, notwithstanding their smallness, were remarkably fleet of foot, but the horse Miss Wilson was riding was one of the swiftest in that part of Wyoming, and after an exciting pursuit of nearly four miles one of the fawns was overtaken.

Miss Wilson jumped from her horse, grabbed the little fellow and tied its feet with one of the rawhide thongs from the saddle, then mounted and continued her pursuit of the other one, which she also succeeded in capturing. When she appeared at the ranch, carrying a young antelope under each arm, the ranch hands were greatly surprised, as they had frequently failed in their attempts to capture young antelope.

In a remarkably short time the two captives became very tame and now follow Miss Wilson to all parts of the ranch like two dogs.

The World's Newest Tongue.

At a committee meeting of the London Esperanto club the other night reports were read from the various sections, says the New York Globe. The list of commercial men in different countries who are using Esperanto for business purposes is daily increasing, and one firm of ironworkers in Huddersfield has received so many orders that a secretary has been sent to London to learn the language as rapidly as possible. More than a score of reviews and newspapers are using Esperanto regularly, the latest being a Cuban journal and the International Science Review, whose contributions include men of eleven different nationalities.

A Summer Resort.

They're talkin' 'bout Bar Harbor. They're talkin' 'bout Cape May. An' likewise Atlantic City. An' 'Coney Island, too. An' it's pleasant to read 'em. With their trolleys an' loop the loop. I picture 'em all As the shadows fall Where I sit on the old front stoop. An' I smell the lingers' sweetness Of the honeysuckle vine. An' I wait for my friend, the lightning bug. To circle around an' shine; An' the crickets an' frogs will cheer me. A gay, melodious group. The place that's best For a real rest Is out on the old front stoop. So I ain't a-packin' my satchel Nor studyin' up the maps, Nor travellin' abroad for the "comforts of home." I am missin' a lot perhaps. I have studied the matter over, An' maybe I'm fancy's dupe, But it seems to me That the place to be Is out on the old front stoop. —Washington Star.

LETTERS OF RUSSIANS

Contempt of Czar's Soldiers For the Japanese.

DERISIVELY NICKNAMED "MAKAKI"

Too Small to Make a Good Target, a Cossack Wrote to His Brother—Another Calls Mikado's Men Ugly, With Skins Like Leather—Pleasant Trip Across Siberia.

The Russian papers, meagerly supplied as they are with war news, have one source of information not possessed by the English journals—that is, the letters from the czar's Tommy Atkins which they continually publish, says the London Sphere. Ivan Ivanovitch, as he is called, is not a good correspondent.

The first thing that strikes the reader of the letters published in the Russian papers is Ivan's unbounded—and unfounded—contempt for his enemies. The "Makaki," as the Japanese are derisively nicknamed, are generally represented as undersized dwarfs who will certainly run away at the first onset of the burly Muscovites.

An Ivan named Maikishcheff, writing from the Yalu, thus describes his enemies to his mother in Tamboff: "I will tell you about the 'Makaki.' We see lots of them, prisoners, and they all go on to Tomsk. They are ugly and have skins like leather and are frightfully afraid of our men. One of them was a Pravoslavni (Orthodox Christian), and our men gave him an ikon and asked what he meant by fighting for the heathen, but he could not understand. The Japs have no language, but speak like Germans."

Of the few letters which have so far appeared from soldiers who have taken part in the fighting the following is one of the most interesting. It was written by a Cossack in Mischchenko's force to his brother:

"Salutes to you and Agafa. You have all heard about our fighting here. Our captain, Levaschin, with twenty of our men crossed the river to reconnoiter 'Makaki' under their general, Kuruse (?). We came upon them an hour after crossing the river, seven of their cavalry on a slope, with a little man no bigger than a goat at the head. They fired at us, hitting one of our led horses, and then made off, we after them. When we had covered about a mile we saw about thirty of them away on our left, but they did not see us. Soon after they divided into two parties, and we rode round by a hill and shot three of them. We heard one of them screaming as he fell. When we got over the brow of the hill we saw a whole crowd of them, with two mountain guns, so we retired.

"The Japs climbed the hill and then lay down and fired a volley at us without hitting anything. We could see their yellow faces plainly. On the way back to the river we had some excitement. We came across another party and chased them to two vests. At last they got away, but one man could not get his horse across a gully. He got down and tried to drag his horse over, but the horse fell, and he could not get it up. He then ran on foot, but one of our men named Mirkoff from Bogoroditsa ran after him and spitted him through the side.

"We thought he was dead, but when the lance came out of him he turned and, putting his rifle right into Mirkoff's face, shot him through the head. The other Japs got away. Next day we covered the same ground, but saw not a single Jap. We shall spit a good many before we have done. The difficulty is to hit them, they are so small."

Judged by most of the letters the journey across Siberia is by no means the inferno it has been depicted. A letter from a private in the Samara regiment gives a rosy account of the passage:

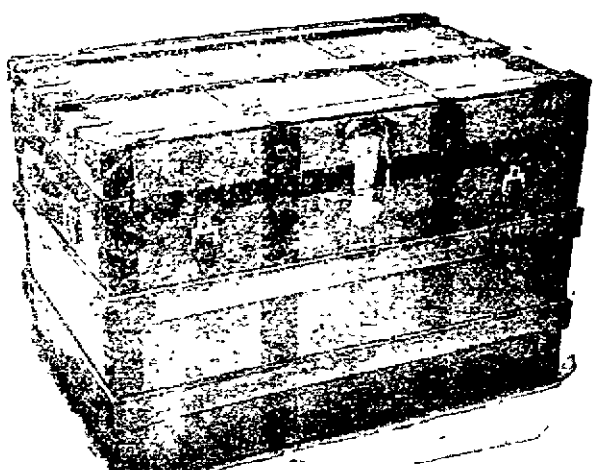

"We had a first rate time in the train, and you may tell Marvel what he missed. Any amount to eat and nothing to do except walk up and down at the stations. The only things we want are matches and books. We were kept two days on Lake Baikal, as the ice had a crack ten yards long in it, and our men were set to removing the rails on to the safe ice.

"We played cards in the train all the way from the lake to Chita, and Markoff played tunes to us on the balalaika (a sort of lute), so it was just like home, only no cows to look after. Some of our men got sick from being too long in the train and were left behind. It is not much colder here than in Russia. We are not going to Japan after all, at any rate at present, as the 'Makaki' have attacked Port Arthur, and we shall be sent on there."

London Society Fad.

One of the tomfool fads of London just now is naming one's gown, the same as bestowing a title on one's horse or dog or country home, says the New York Press. An exceedingly smart Bond street dressmaker has started by ticketing the models. "The Kiss," "The Maiden's Blush," "The Dream of Paradise," and, curiously enough, these inane names suggest the gown. "The Dream of Paradise" is a crystal evening gown that glistens with a crisp shower of glass beads. Pink tulle flutters the "dream" at the corsage line and at the skirt. "The Kiss" is a rich pink affair of chiffon with lace and rosebuds. "The Maiden's Blush" is a pale embroidered muslin that might represent the flush of a miss seventeen years old. London women, always keen for sensation, have taken up the cue and they are naming their gowns after men friends. One peeress grass widow of the West End is calling her Irish lace frock her "Donald," and it will not be long before Newport women will be wearing "Harrys" and "Ellishas" and "J. Henrys."

NEW YORK'S ACCIDENT RECORD.

New York, July 5.—This is the record of deaths, maimings and fires on July Fourth in New York: Number of deaths, 4; number injured fatally, 1; patients treated, 346; injured not reported, estimated, 1,900. Fires, 770; arrests for carrying revolvers, 34.

SANE FOURTH AT TOLEDO.

Toledo, O., July 5.—The city of Toledo, of 160,000 inhabitants, enjoyed an untroubled Fourth of July without the use of fireworks or explosives. Last year eight boys died in Toledo from lockjaw as a result of toy pistol enthusiasm and the list of maimed and injured was large. This fact started a local agitation for a quiet Fourth and an ordinance was passed by council prohibiting the use of explosives. Public sentiment sustained the move.

BOAT CAPSIZED

And Four Were Drowned Within Sight of Hundreds of Spectators.

Muskegon, Mich., July 5.—A sailboat containing seven pleasure seekers was capsized in Muskegon Lake yesterday, and four of the occupants were drowned in view of hundreds of spectators. The party consisted of Albert Kennicott, of the Shaw Electric Crane Works, his wife and three children, Linda, 4 years of age, and two other little girls, 2 years and 13 months respectively, and two sisters, Misses Adeline and Gertrude Emerson. High winds prevailed when the party started out, and when near Ruddiman's Point the yacht capsized. Mr. and Mrs. Kennicott and Miss Gertrude Emerson clung to the overturned boat. The parents made frantic efforts to save the children. The thirteenth-months-old baby was rescued, but died before reaching shore.

CELEBRATION

Of the Fourth at Frazer's Grove, Near Black Run, Was a Big Success—The Program.

The Fourth of July celebration and basket picnic held in C. W. Frazer's grove near Black Run, July 4, was a decided success. There was a large crowd in attendance and amusements and attractions of all sorts were provided. Every body present seemed filled with the old fashioned Fourth of July spirit and the only drawback to the occasion was the copious showers of rain that descended at frequent intervals, one heavy shower coming just as the picnickers were enjoying their dinner. The day was pleasantly spent in interesting amusements of various kinds, family reunions and social greetings, and in listening to the program of exercises that had been prepared. A large platform with comfortable seats had been provided for the speakers and orators, and a large multitude of people stood around with their hearing distance. Rev. W. H. McDaniel, pastor of the M. E. church, presided gracefully over the meeting. The orators of the day in turn were Hon. E. M. P. Brister and Hon. B. F. McDonald of Newark. Some fine vocal music was rendered by a choir of young ladies and gentlemen of the vicinity and fine instrumental music was discoursed during the day by the Frazersburg and Elizabeth-town bands. The picnic was a most delightful success in every particular, and too much credit cannot be given to Messrs. Jacob Hessin and C. W. Frazer, the energetic committees having the celebration in charge.

In The Field of Sport : : :

For one hour Monday, "Lefty" Snyder gave an exhibition of pitching which has never been surpassed in Newark, and as a consequence the Columbus Unions were defeated in the fastest game of the season. Sixty minutes were consumed in playing the game and there was not a dull moment at any time.

Snyder was at all times master of the situation and not a base on balls or hit batsman marred his record. The pitching was of such a kind that sensational fielding was out of the question and for this reason the game was featureless. The score:

was aroused at all hours of the night and shortly after 9 o'clock this morning Senator Jones of Arkansas, sent for him to take part in an important conference. A series of conferences had been planned for the day. There has been much urging of General Miles as the candidate of the antis. Overmeyer, of Kansas, and Congressman Sulzer of New York, a Tammany leader, called on the Nebraska delegation, to say that Miles could probably win the nomination and election. Mr. Bryan has made any utterance as to Miles, it is not known. Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, Senator Jones and John T. McGraw, of West Virginia, were very actively engaged with Mr. Bryan in the early hours of the day today.

FRIENDS
Of the New York Judge Say That Parker Will Win on First or Second Ballot.

St. Louis July 5.—It looks now as if Judge Parker will be nominated on either the first or second ballot. Many combinations have been suggested, but so far they seem to have proved incapable of being assembled into a shape sufficiently substantial to show the independent and uninstructed delegates how another candidate can be named. Men who are supposed to hold the balance of power have asked the Parker opponents to say what would be done after Parker had been put out of the race, but no satisfactory answer is given. Action taken by the Pennsylvania delegation last night by the vote of 52 to 5 to vote for Parker only served to emphasize this view of the outcome. Gorman, Gray and Cleveland have been suggested but no one is prepared to give assurances that either could receive the nomination. The mention of Cleveland has had the effect in some quarters to solidify the Parker strength for many delegates say they do not want to take even the slightest chance of allowing Cleveland a fourth nomination.

While there is a friendly feeling for Gorman among the southern delegates, including those who are under instructions or bound by the unit rule to vote for Parker, yet the predominant expression from this element is that the effort now making in behalf of the Maryland senator is too late. They also point to the fact that when delegates were being chosen, Gorman gave no sign that he desired the nomination. It is too much to expect, they say, that delegates who were chosen as Parker men, whether under instructions or not, will desert him now, or as long as there is a possibility of securing his nomination. The opposition to Judge Parker in its efforts to tighten the lines and make sure of holding the delegations not counted as opposed to him, have brought out two new candidates in the persons of former Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania and General Miles. The opposition leaders appreciate to the utmost the difficulty of preventing a stampede to Parker should his lead become pronouncedly manifest, but they are counting upon doing this by appealing to the local pride of the different "favorite son" delegations to hold on as long as possible.

Senator Gorman's friends still expect to press his candidacy if Parker fails of success, and in the meantime they will do all they can to bring about such a situation. The wisdom of casting the votes, known to be for Gorman, for other candidates has been canvassed and this course practically decided upon. It is not yet absolutely certain what aspirant will be complimented, but the choice lies between Pattison and Cockrell. The votes absolutely under Mr. Gorman's control are those of Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The men who are talking about Judge Gray are met with the question, where are the votes to be secured to nominate him. The delegates with "favorite sons" as yet, manifest an unwillingness to enter into combinations and in the interest of their own candidates, they do not desire to antagonize Parker. If by any chance, there is a deadlock, they all hope to secure votes from the Parker column in the break up. Nor are the "favorite sons" delegations such as can be transferred. In several cases, Parker is the second choice of the delegates. This is notably true to the votes instructed for Hearst. It is not believed that the editor candidate could control them for any other candidate, while it is evident that quite a large number from the Northwest are ready to vote for Parker on the second ballot.

GRAY'S CANDIDACY
Is Encouraged By The Opponents of Judge Parker.

St. Louis, July 5.—Headquarters are established at the St. Nicholas Hotel in the interests of Judge George Gray of Delaware. The members of the Delaware delegation visited different state headquarters and urged the advantage of nominating their man. It was said that the New Jersey delegation was favorable to Judge Gray if Cleveland is not to be brought forward. Senator Tillman hopes to bring the South Carolina delegation over to Gray, although a majority of them have expressed a preference for Parker, which, under the unit rule, would carry the delegation to the New Yorker. The candidacy of Judge Gray is being encouraged by the opponents of Judge Parker, who hopes that they will get some of the Parker votes.

JUDGE PARKER
Strongest in the Middle West of Any of the Eastern Favorites, Says Mr. Newton.

In dispatches from St. Louis, Jas. W. Faulkner wired the following to the Cincinnati Enquirer Sunday night: "That old father in Israel and hoary veteran in the service, Joseph H. Newton, editor of The Newark Advocate, true to long acquired habit, was on hand at daybreak today to get the inspiration of the hour. "I am satisfied that this convention is going to do the right thing for the Democratic party," was his judgment as he went out early this evening to his quiet apartments, away from the madding throng. "It looks good to me."

Allen E. Beech, staff correspondent of The Ohio State Journal at St. Louis, quotes Mr. Newton as saying: "Parker is the strongest in the middle West of any of the Eastern favorites. He will be nominated. Harmon! Oh, this talk of favorite sons is all nonsense."

The occasion was honored by the presence of State President Lee Miles and wife and two daughters and son, of New Lexington. A short session was held in the afternoon, President H. O. Dorsey presiding, and after the transaction of some important business the association adjourned to meet again on the 13th of August in the basement of the courthouse, at Newark. The association will hold their picnic next year on July 4, at Idlewild park.

Johnny—None.—Boston Globe.

Mr. Dash—Is your cook amiable when you bring home unexpected company to dinner?
Mr. Rash—Oh, we have a guaranteed asbestos curtain between our dining room and kitchen.—Cincinnati Tribune.

"You are having trouble with your cooks?"
"Yes. The first one carried on so."
"And how about the last?"
"She carried off so. I lost two vests and a hat".—Philadelphia Record.

Mrs. Backlotz—So your servant girl has left you again.
Mrs. Subbubs—Yes.
Mrs. Backlotz—What was the matter?
Mrs. Subbubs—She didn't like the way I did her work.—Philadelphia Press.

Edna—And after our marriage I am going to keep a cook.
Belle—You are too reckless, my dear.
Edna—Reckless?
Belle—Yes. You should say you are going to try to keep a cook.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Too Much.
A Chinese servant employed in a New York family, who lived next door to a famous woman pianist, left suddenly after only a few days' service. His knowledge of the English language was limited, and the letter which he left behind him, notifying the family of his departure, was written in Chinese. With the aid of an interpreter the gist of the communication was made out. "I do not mind your heathen parrot," said the letter, "I do not mind your barbarous customs of dressing and eating, but the lady next door, who sits on the musical instrument every day, is too much."—Harper's Weekly.

The Powder Didn't Bake It.
Mrs. Nuwed—Here's the bread I started to make today. Isn't it too annoying?
Mr. Nuwed—Why, it isn't baked at all.
Mrs. Nuwed—I know it isn't. That's just it. I put plenty of baking powder in it, but it doesn't seem to have worked.—Philadelphia Press.

Nightcaps.
Custom House Officer—Madam, have you anything dutiable to declare?
Madam—No, my trunk contains simply wearing apparel.
Officer—After examination of said trunk—What do you call these six bottles of whiskey?
Madam—Oh, those are nightcaps.—New York Life.

In spite of his great social successes in India it is asserted that Gen. Lord Kitchener is more confirmed in his bachelorhood than ever.

Austen Chamberlain is 41 years old, but betrays no inclination for matrimony. His father, Joseph Chamberlain, has been married three times.

An attempt is being made to uncover the treasure from the bottom of Lake Guatavita, in Colombia, sunk by Indian sun worshippers before the conquest by the Spaniards. One Frenchman estimates that its value will amount to over five billion dollars.

Cloth may be rendered waterproof by rubbing the under side with a lump of beeswax until the surface presents a uniform white or grayish appearance. This method, it is said, renders the cloth practically waterproof, although still leaving it porous to air.

THE FOURTH
THOUSANDS VISITED THE LAKE AND IDLEWILDE PARK.
Electric Roads Taxed to Utmost But Handled the Immense Crowds Without Single Mishap.

Independence Day was duly enjoyed and celebrated by the thousands of people from Newark, Columbus, Zanesville and the surrounding cities and towns and Buckeye Lake and Idlewild park seemed to be the Mecca of the celebrators.

The C. B. L. & N., the C. N. & Z. and the N. & G. electric roads were taxed to their full capacity from early morning until late at night carrying the crowds to these beautiful and popular resorts.

It was the banner day for Buckeye Lake park, nearly 10,000 people spending the day at this, the coming "Atlantic City" of Central Ohio, while over 5,000 people passed through the turnstile at Idlewild park during the afternoon and evening.

One of the most remarkable facts of the day's proceedings is that there was no accidents to chronicle. At Buckeye Lake park every precaution possible was taken by the management to give immediate assistance to boating and basketball parties, a fast-running propeller launch having been engaged for the day and lay at the wharf manned and ready to render aid if needed. Special police patrolled the shore, walks and drives. No intoxicating liquors of any kind were allowed or tolerated on the grounds, the best of order prevailing.

At Idlewild the same precautions were taken with the result that the pleasure seekers were not annoyed by drunks or roughs, who generally frequent resorts for the purpose of causing trouble. The day in Newark passed without special incident or accident. The orders of the mayor to prohibit the sale or discharge of dangerous firearms or firecrackers had a very wholesome effect and favorable comment was heard everywhere.

The interurban lines were taxed to their utmost to carry the people in all directions. Cars to the lake ran at half hour intervals and each was a "double header." The thousands of people were handled without mishap of any kind which speaks well for the electric road management under Mr. J. K. Harrigan's direction. At the Lake Manager Harris had affairs well in hand and provided entertainment for all. It was the most orderly crowd imaginable and no trouble arose at any time during the day or evening.

HECKMAN BROUGHT BACK.
Chief of Police Sheridan returned home from Vincennes, Ill., Saturday night George Heckman, who is wanted in this city on the charge of stealing $200 from his grandmother, Mrs. Beutick of Jefferson street.

J., and Ocean City, Md., on Thursday, August 18, 1904.

Atlantic City, N. J., the most popular of the hundred or more resorts along the Atlantic Coast, is pronounced the finest watering place in the world. This great American Seashore Resort has kept pace with the times and prospered. The hotels have grown in number and size. Prosperity and popularity are with it.

The surf bathing which has made Atlantic City famous is one of the wonders of the world. The sight during bathing hours defies description; men, women and children in bathing costumes of varied hues form a picture to be seen only at Atlantic City.

Aside from the seaside features, Atlantic City has amusements of every kind. Great iron piers extend hundreds of feet into the ocean. Each pier has its summer theater and band stands, and for a nominal price one can enjoy the comfortable chairs of the pier and listen to the music of the hands throughout the entire day, if he so will it.

The proximity of Atlantic City to all the big central and western cities, by reason of the excellent through train service of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, makes it the resort of the masses. Tickets will be available on all regular trains, and will be good for return twelve days, including date of sale, thus giving ample time for an enjoyable outing. Stop-over within limit of ticket will be allowed at Philadelphia, Pa., and Washington, D. C., on return trip.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Colorado's Adjutant General.
Adjutant General Sherman M. Bell, who has been brought into prominence because of the prolonged miners' strike in Colorado, is in charge of the state militia in the Telluride district, where martial law is in force.

Since the beginning of the strike last fall there have been numerous clashes between the civil and military forces.

ADJUTANT GENERAL SHERMAN M. BELL, of the district, and on one occasion General Bell ignored an order of the supreme court. As a result of the recent killing of a number of nonunion miners General Bell has resumed activity in the field, and a number of union miners have been deported. The strike has already cost many millions of dollars and more than a score of lives.

A Doubtful Compliment.
Pountney Bigelow, who has accepted the chair of foreign relations at Boston university, had completed an address before the Twentieth Century club of Chicago. A young man congratulated Mr. Bigelow rather awkwardly on this address, and the learned traveler replied:

"That is a doubtful compliment. It reminds me of a remark that a friend of the groom's made at a New Hampshire wedding.

"This friend, an observant chap, watched the groom closely during the ceremony and at the end bore down on the happy man, shook him warmly by the hand and said:

"Bill, ye done good. I had an idee ye would be skittish while ye wuz bein' tied up, but, begosh, ye looked as bold as a sheep!"—Washington Post.

Got Quay's Opinion.
A young Philadelphia lawyer eager to shine in party councils once consulted the late Senator Quay as to ways and means, says the New York Times.
"I've been in politics over a year," he said, "and I find it rather a difficult problem. I can't say I'm getting on very rapidly, and I'm fast losing my individuality. That isn't a very good sign, is it?"
"Well," answered the senator in a droll, quiet way, "I should say it was the best thing that could happen—to you."

He Got the Watch.
A London city missionary who worked in the slums of a certain district and was well known to the thieves that swarmed there began his service one day with the words, "I think I know which of you stole Mr. —'s gold watch yesterday, and I shall be glad if you will send it back to me before noon tomorrow." He made no threat and indeed spoke very gently. The next day he received eight gold watches!

Russia's Fighting Admiral.
Vice Admiral Skrydloff, who commands the czar's naval forces in the far east, seems to be making good use of the Vladivostok squadron. The recent sinking of the Japanese transports Hitachi and Sado in the strait of Korea shows that he is an enemy to be reckoned with and with his three splendid armored cruisers may seriously interfere with the Japanese line of communication.

Vice Admiral Skrydloff is one of the most popular officers of the Russian navy and long ago won a reputation for bravery. For distinguished services in the Turkish war he received the cross of St. George. Since then he has seen much service, and his determination and pertinacity as a fighter have made him known throughout the service as the "bulldog of the navy." He reached the rank of vice admiral in 1900 and before his present assignment was in command of the Black sea fleet.

A GAY BENEDICK

Justice Henry B. Brown Tells of His Runaway Match.

Happy as a boy in his first love, Justice Henry B. Brown, one of the oldest members of the United States supreme court, has been spending his honeymoon with his bride at Atlantic City, N. J., says the New York World. Albeit more dignified, the justice and his bride are as loving as ever any youthful Romeo and Juliet.

To the utter surprise of family and friends, Justice Brown and his bride, Mrs. Josephine B. Tyler, stole from Washington and went to Crosswicks, where they were married.

"It was a sort of runaway match so far as I was concerned, but I have nothing to hide," said the judge. "I sought to escape newspaper comment. I didn't desire any fuss, and so I thought I'd do as some of the younger boys do—go and get married without any person knowing it.

"I didn't tell any one except my secretary, and I didn't tell him until an hour before I went away."

It wasn't a fair question, thought the justice when the reporter asked how long had been his courtship. He replied laughingly:

"You might say years. Mrs. Tyler was a dear friend of my wife. She was with her when she died four years ago. She has been a friend of years. That isn't a fair question, but Mrs. Tyler didn't know my plans until recently.

"Every man should get married. But, no, I refuse to moralize. If I retire, I shall probably go to Europe for a time and sow my wild oats."

Once more the justice indulged in a laugh. "I feel in splendid health, and I desire a little fun in my declining years."

JAPANESE TOP SPINNERS.

Remarkable Exhibition of Skill by a Student.

A Japanese student of medicine was showing a group of Americans what he could do in the way of top spinning, says the New York Telegram.

He took up a big yellow top shaped like a chrysanthemum, wrapped a silk cord about it and threw it down. It spun beautifully, this huge flower, and out of it all of a sudden a half dozen smaller flowers leaped and spun in their turn about the door.

"A chrysanthemum top," said the young man. "Here is a bird top." He corded and threw down a top that resembled a gorgeous bird. This top as it spun opened and closed its wings and made long leaps to left and right in imitation of a bird's flight.

The Japanese student wound a red top as big as his head and hurled it violently straight at one of his guests. It shot through the air till it was within a few inches of the frightened young man's face, and then, as though by magic, it turned and darted back again, and the student caught it on his palm and held it there, still spinning.

"This is a boomerang top," he said. And again he threw it across the room, and again it shot back, still spinning, to his hand.

The young man now set going simultaneously a dozen small tops of red and yellow and green paper. They looked plain and commonplace as they spun, but suddenly they began to open out, and one became a ladder, another a lantern, a third a ship, a fourth a branch of cherry blossoms, a fifth a dancing girl, and so on.

"The Chinese," said the student, "are noted for their kites. Why is it that we Japanese are not equally noted for our tops? All over our country we spin tops, and my little exhibition here would seem poor and mean beside the one that a really expert spinner could give you in Japan."

A LIVE OKAPI.

Sportsman's Glimpse of Giraffe-Like Animal in Africa.

Major James Harrison, traveler and sportsman, recently returned to England after an adventurous period of big game hunting in the great forest of Central Africa, says the London Mail.

He recently related the story of his experiences: "I started a few days after Christmas and made my way down to the Stanley forest, where the pygmies are. I saw many of the pygmies. They used to keep away from us on our approach, but afterward hung on our rear. They are keen little people and good hunters. None was over three feet ten inches in height.

"Failing to find the okapi, I worked up to Jabir and thence into the great forest of De Melley. The trees of the forest were so interwoven with tangled creepers and underwood that one had often to crawl to make one's way through it. On the sixth day in the forest we came on the spoor of okapi. We had been following it for hours when, on suddenly turning round a bush, I saw an okapi not more than fifteen feet in front of me.

"It was an animal something like a giraffe, some ten or eleven feet high, of a tawny gray in color, with stripes over the leins. It was gone like a flash into the thicket before I could get my rifle from the native who was carrying it. I never saw the okapi again."

Rockets For Stranded Motorists.

A correspondent of the Globe of London makes the suggestion that motorists should carry rockets, which might be fired when a breakdown occurred, and he adds:

"The local motor car repairers, if such a custom becomes general, are sure to establish lookout towers, on the top of each of which they can station a small boy to report motor shipwrecks. Of course the rockets should be made to throw off colored lights for nighttime as well as a volume of smoke for daylight."

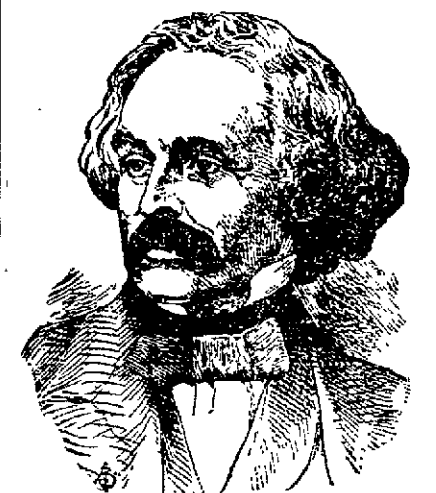

HAWTHORNE'S BIRTH

IT TOOK PLACE ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO ON JULY 4.

Observance of the Centennial at Salem, Mass., Recalls Character and Career of the Great American Writer of Romance.

Independence day 100 years ago witnessed the birth of one of the greatest of American authors, Nathaniel Hawthorne. The event took place in the historic town of Salem, Mass., while the villagers were heralding the birthday of the republic, and it is related that the infant's father besought his neighbors to make less noise in their celebration of the ever glorious anniversary out of consideration for the new baby and its mother.

The observance by the people of Salem of the centennial of Hawthorne's birth calls attention to the fact that his place in American literature is secure. He has been dead forty years, but he is not forgotten, and while the present generation of readers neglects the works of many writers of his time, his books are read and reread and continue to exert a healthful and ennobling influence.

When Nathaniel Hawthorne was a boy of sixteen and preparing for college he wrote to his mother, "How would you like some day to see a whole shelf full of books, written by your son, with 'Hawthorne's Works' printed on their backs?" Thus at this early age the great romance writer of America predicted his own future. Yet despite his belief, even as a boy, that he was destined to attain literary distinction it required a quarter of a century of hard work to gain from the general public the recognition so well deserved.

When he was forty-two years old and living at Salem he was engaged in earning a living through performance of the prosaic duties of surveyor of the port, his revenue from his writings not being at that time sufficient to pay the bills of even a small family like his. It would appear that at this time the author felt somewhat discouraged, for he afterward wrote: "No longer seeking or caring that my name should be blazoned abroad on title pages, I smiled to think that it had now another kind of vogue. The custom house marker imprinted it with a stencil and black paint on pepper bags, cigar boxes and bales of all dutiable merchandise in testimony that these commodities had paid the import and gone regularly through the office. Borne on such queer vehicles of fame, knowledge of my existence, so far as a name conveyed it, was carried where it had never been before."

But the name of Hawthorne was not to be handed down to posterity simply as that of a custom house officer of the old town where witches once held sway. Even while sitting at the old pine desk in the Salem custom house and attending to the stenciling of cigar boxes and pepper bags Hawthorne had been at work at odd times on the story which did most to win him a wide reputation, "The Scarlet Letter." A change of administration at Washington led to Hawthorne's ejection from political office, and at this time he was in a doleful mood, for his books had not been selling well, and he seems to have been doubtful about attempting the publication of more writings. It chanced one day that he was visited by the publisher and poet, James T. Fields.

In "Yesterdays With Authors" Mr. Fields relates what happened. Hawthorne was hovering over the stove in a disconsolate way, for the day was cold, and when Mr. Fields inquired if he had anything ready for the press the author replied "Nonsense." What heart have I to write anything when my publishers have been so many years trying to sell a small edition of "Twice-told Tales?" As the publisher was about to depart he caught sight of a bureau, and it occurred to him that hidden away in the recesses of this article of furniture there was a story.

He suggested this to the author, but the latter shook his head, and Mr. Fields was on the point of leaving the house when Hawthorne came hurrying down the stairs after him with a roll of manuscript in his hand. "How in heaven's name," he asked, "did you know this thing was there? Take what I have written."

The book was published and twenty-five years of waiting for recognition were over. The success of the author of "The Scarlet Letter" was established by the sale of the entire first edition of 5,000 copies in ten days.

COURTSHIP IN TIBET.

Customs of a Land That Never Mixes Romance and Matrimony.

W. C. Jameson Reid, writing in the Booklovers' Magazine about courtship and marriage in Tibet, says:

Wives are sometimes secured by a foraging expedition on a weaker tribe and by seizing as many women as may be desired. The usual method, however, is this: When a warrior, surfeited with the glory of martial life, desires a wife he waits upon the father of the girl who has attracted his eye and makes an offer of marriage. The father, after weighing the matter carefully—for a refusal is likely to provoke a long and bloody feud—in turn waits upon the priests and acquaints them with the nature of the offer, at the same time paying to them a munificent bribe in order to secure the answer of the deities as to whether the marriage should be entered into. The wife seeker, should he be diplomatic enough, has meantime carried a larger bribe to the lamas, who "bleed" both father and suitor to the limit of safety, when the decision of the deities is given.

For a month the accepted suitor must keep the family of his favored one supplied with meat and other luxuries and must be on his guard against rival suitors. At the end of a month the chosen one is invited to a grand feast by the father of the girl, where the betrothal is sealed by each cutting a small incision in the arm and mingling the blood flowing from the wound. This function of blood brotherhood having been finished, the girl is brought forward, smeared with grease and various colored pigments, adorned in all her finery and with a rope tied around her neck as a badge of subservience. Then ensues a scene of the shrewdest bargaining, the father dilating on the good points of the girl much in the manner that a connoisseur of blooded stock would expound the good points of an animal, while the suitor, having calculated how many cattle he is willing to give, strives to secure her at the lowest possible price. The wishes of the woman are never consulted, but the bargaining goes on for days and even weeks until a final settlement has been arrived at. The requisite price having been paid, she is led to the house of her husband, where she is subjected to a severe beating in order to humble her spirit and make to run round the village loudly proclaiming the merits and valor of her husband, meanwhile touching those objects which are supposed to have a potent influence over her welfare.

By the sale of a girl to one man, however, the father does not relinquish his claims upon her, but may sell her to other suitors who come afterward, until she may have half a dozen husbands.

DOG'S LOVE FOR GASOLINE.

Canine Has Annoying Habit of Following Automobiles.

Samuel P. Hedges of Greenport, N. Y., has a dog that has a remarkable habit of following automobiles, says a dispatch from that town. When the dog was a mere pup Mr. Hedges used to carry it around with him in his machine. Later it followed closely behind, and as the dog developed his automobile chasing bump it would follow any machine that came along propelled by steam, while it would not look at the gasoline carriages. Later Mr. Hedges purchased a gasoline machine. The dog got used to this and now pays strict attention to any gasoline machine and does not heed the steam carriages.

A few days ago a big touring car from Brooklyn arrived in Greenport. The dog spied it and followed closely behind all around the village. Finally the machine started west for Riverhead, with the dog in close pursuit. In Riverhead the dog was discovered by a person who knew where it belonged. This man telephoned to Mr. Hedges, and he made a request that the machine stop long enough for him to get the dog, but the machine owners were in a hurry and started through the woods for Quogue. The dog arrived in Greenport the next day, footsore and weary. It rested a whole day and was then ready and willing to follow its bent once more.

Mr. Hedges, who does not want to lose his pet, has had a nice collar fitted to his neck bearing these words: "Send this — fool auto chaser back to Hedges, Greenport."

Jewelry Novelties.

There are many new things in the way of jewelry. Among the most useful is the little satin box and its contents, the "blouse set." It consists of three different sizes of gold safety pins and two lace or scarf pins. They can be as elaborately set with precious stones as the pure-adamts. Then there is the new "lucky charm." The design is a heart, at the apex of which is fixed the birth stone of the wearer. Another charming conceit that is indeed comprehensive in its luck bearing intentions is in the shape of a four leaf clover. On the various petals are encased a pea, a horse-shoe and a diminutive four leaf clover.

Raising Hares to Fight.

Patrick O'Keefe of Morris-town, N. J., has trained a pair of Belgian hares to give battle to the most ferocious members of the dog colony in that vicinity, says the New York Times. O'Keefe some time ago started to raise hares, but until recently the dogs killed many. O'Keefe believed that the hares could be taught to fight, and he thinks he has succeeded now. He says he may sell the animals to take the place of watchdogs hereafter. Not a canine of any breed or build now dares come within sight of the O'Keefe homestead.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

The Sewing Rug.
Dressmaking is done in every household, and everywhere sewing is done a sewing rug will be found useful. For a rug cut sixteen yards of denim in four equal lengths. This will make a four yard rug. Stitch around it a two inch hem, and to the back of the hem attach some lead weights, similar to those that are sometimes used in bicycle skirts. These will cause the rug to lie flat on the floor. Place this rug under the sewing machine and cutting table before beginning work. When the work is over, it may be picked up and shaken out of doors. It will save a great deal of time and trouble, and the time necessary to pick it up and bundle it out of the way is much less than would be required to pick up snips and threads.

Carbolic Acid Antidote.

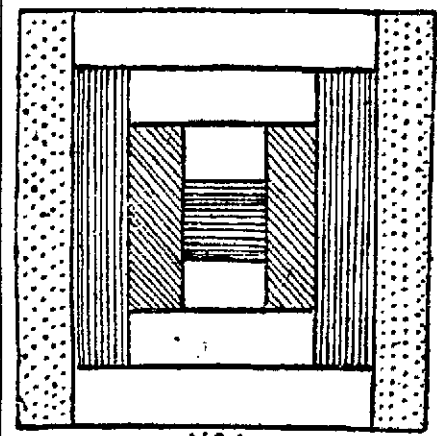

The recent discovery of Mr. Allen, a Dublin veterinary surgeon, that ordinary turpentine is an antidote to carbolic acid is one of the many important discoveries which have resulted more or less from accident. Mr. Allen had in his establishment some horses which were suffering from carbolic poisoning, and he asked for oil to be given as an antidote. It was only the unexpected success of the treatment which caused it to be discovered that a happy mistake had been made and that turpentine had been administered instead of oil. A few days later a blacksmith who was unconscious from carbolic poisoning was similarly treated with satisfactory results.

Washing Silk Goods.

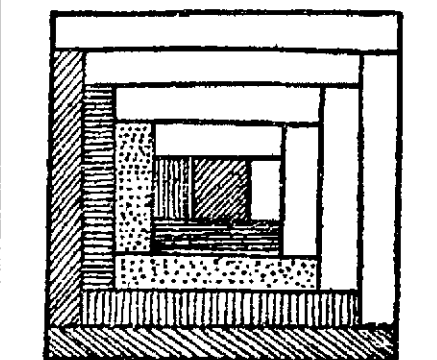

Permit no wringing or rubbing of any wash silk garment. Simply have it dipped, changing the lukewarm water several times until it becomes comparatively clean. Next pass through two waters of the same temperature, omitting soap, and hang up to drain. Care should be taken to pin in several places to avoid strain, as the garment will be heavy with the weight of water.

Log Cabin Quilt Designs.

Design No. 1 has the dark pieces on opposite sides, while No. 2 has dark in one corner and light in the other. When sewing the squares of No. 1 join all dark squares. That makes dark stripe lengthwise when quilt is complete. No. 2 is sewed together so as to make a large light square, with a dark square standing on its corner in the center. That takes four squares. Then when the next four squares are sewed to that there will be a dark and light alternate. Many prefer to have the center tiny square made of red or to match the lining.

Wear of Table Linen.

The real wear of table linen is in laundering, but this may be materially decreased and the linen made to serve much longer by careful ironing. The flat should be moved with the warp threads and not across them. The next time you draw threads in table linen note the difference in strength of the warp and woof threads and you will be convinced. —Good Housekeeping.

Remedy For Burns.

Burns and scalds are most likely to happen in the kitchen, so a remedy should always be at hand there, for it cannot be too quickly applied. It is called "barren oil" and is made by shaking together equal parts of lime-water and linseed oil in a bottle. Apply to the injured part on lint or soft linen and cover with cotton wool to exclude the air.

Hand Protectors.

A satisfactory protection to the hands when sweeping is a pair of loose mittens made from flannel cotton flannel, fleecy side in. They effectively exclude the dust from the hands and wrists when made sufficiently long to pull well up over the sleeve.

Polish For Old Oak.

A polish for old oak is made by mixing together two ounces of boiled linseed oil, three ounces of turpentine, an ounce of vinegar and a quarter of a pint of methylated spirit. Rub a little of this well in, then polish the wood with a soft cloth.

To Make Baking Powder.

Mix well together half a pound of ground rice, one-quarter pound of bicarbonate of soda, two ounces of tartaric acid.

STATE BOARD

APPROVES PLANS FOR NEWARK'S WATER WORKS.

Bonds In Sums of $300,000 Offered By City Auditor to Sinking Fund Trustees Tuesday.

Mr. John P. Lamb, president of the Board of Public Service, has just received the following official notice from the State Board of Health:

"The state board of health has considered your application for approval of plans for a water supply for the city of Newark to be obtained from the north fork of the Lackawanna river. You are hereby notified that the board has voted to approve this proposed supply upon the condition that the water be purified in a manner satisfactory to the State Board of Health, before being offered to consumers.

"By order of the board.
"Yours truly,
"C. O. PROEST, Secretary."

Mr. Lamb recently waited upon the State Board of Health at Cleveland, and presented to that body the plans and specifications that had been prepared for Newark's proposed new water system. The foregoing notice showing that the state board has accepted the plans, clears the way for further action on the part of the city.

At a meeting of the sinking fund trustees Tuesday afternoon, the city auditor, F. T. Maurath, will offer this proposed municipal water works bonds in the sum of $300,000. If these bonds are accepted by the board they will be sold in parcels to meet payments on the water works construction as the estimates become due. This will save the city a considerable sum in interest. It is proposed to advertise for bids in the fall and begin the work of construction in the spring of 1905. No bonds will be sold until time to begin the work and then only in a sufficient amount to pay for the work as it progresses.

the ship. The occupants of the boat, who were not killed by the impact, were thrown into the water.

The crew and passengers on deck had no time to spare to assist the few who had a chance to escape, but lost it. Undeterred by the experience of the first boat, a second, loaded with women and children, was lowered. This time the tackle ran smoothly, but the hopes of escape of the passengers on board were blasted. The moment it touched the water, waves picked up the small craft as if it had been a feather and dashed it against the side of the ship, despite the frantic efforts of the passengers to fend it off.

The crash was heard on deck. Then the sea swallowed more victims and pieces of wreckage slowly drifted towards the rock. The upper deck of the Norge at the time of the disaster to the second boat was only a few feet from the water and it was apparent to every one that a few minutes more and she would plunge beneath the waves.

In the final crisis those who were able to remember clearly what happened, say that the shrieks and sobs died away and that the quiet was only broken by the curses of some men, whose fear found vent in blasphemy. Suddenly one man threw himself overboard and another followed his example. Still another jumped into the water and soon round the ship hundreds of persons were struggling in the sea, having preferred death in the open than to being submerged with the ship. Others, determined to stand by the ship, hoping against hope that she would remain afloat.

Three boats it is known, successfully reached the sea. The passengers frantically pulled away from the doomed ship, passing by poor wretches who were still afloat and who vainly begged to be taken on board, while from the ship came long, despairing cries. The women in the boat which reached Grimsby, hid their eyes, but the men who were facing the Norge, said they saw the captain still on the bridge and the passengers on deck in attitudes of resignation.

While they looked the Norge plunged forward, her stern shot up in the air and she disappeared. The swimmers in the vicinity of the ship were drawn into the vortex, around which they swirled like chips in the mill-stream. But 12 minutes elapsed from the time the ship struck until she rank. A fine Scotch mist, which was falling at the time, shut out other survivors from the view of those who were brought to Grimsby.

The latter, so soon as their boat was clear of the scene of the wreck devoted themselves to thought of their own safety. A jacket was tied to an oar, which was in turn fastened in the bow of the boat, and a sailor, a Dane, took charge of the boat. Men and women were put to work keeping the boat afloat as a hole had been stove in her low when it was lowered from the ship. An examination of the water (ack showed that it did not contain a drop of water. There were some biscuits, however, and these were eaten by the ship wrecked people during the 24 hours from the time the ship struck at 7 a. m., June 28, until they were picked up by the Grimsby Trawler, Silvia.

LYNCHING

Threatened the Marshal of Harrisburg, and His Deputy Took Him To Columbus.

Columbus, O., July 5.—Fred Bartsch, marshal of Harrisburg, this county, is in jail here awaiting the outcome of the shooting of Fred A. Chamberlain, a hardware dealer of the village named.

Yesterday Marshal Bartsch entered Chamberlain's store, and, according to witnesses, a short conversation was followed by an attempt of Chamberlain to eject the marshal. Bartsch fired two shots into Chamberlain's body. Four witnesses saw the shooting.

Deputy Marshal Coulson at once placed his chief under arrest, and hustled him to the jail here, for there were threats of lynching. It is said that there has been something of a feud between Bartsch and Chamberlain.

The marshal says he was acting in self-defense. He went into the hardware store he says, to order Chamberlain to move some farm implements so that the weeds in the alley could be cut, and that Chamberlain then jumped upon him.

YOUNG BOY FELL WHILE HE WAS FISHING.

James McGee Promptly Plunged Into the Water and Saved the Little Boy's Life.

A gallant rescue from drowning was made by Jas. McGee, the well known shoemaker at Linchan Bros boot and shoe store on Monday, July 4. Mr. McGee was walking along the canal banks near the B. & O. passenger station, when a small boy about twelve years old, who was fishing in the locks, fell into the water, which was ten feet deep. The boy would have undoubtedly drowned had not Mr. McGee instantly plunged into the water and after considerable effort succeeded in getting the boy out of the lock, drenched through and through, but uninjured. In the excitement of the moment the name of the boy was not ascertained.

DEATH

OF CONSTABLE A. S. CUNNINGHAM MONDAY MORNING

At His Home In Franklin Avenue Was Unexpected—Masonic Funeral Wednesday Afternoon.

Constable Albert S. Cunningham died very suddenly at his home on Franklin avenue at 1 o'clock Monday morning of stomach trouble, aged 70 years.

While he had been ill since last November still he was feeling better Sunday than for a long time and his death was unexpected.

Mr. Cunningham was born in Licking county March 5, 1834, and had been a lifelong resident of the county. In his earlier days he graduated from Denison college in penmanship and was for a number of years a teacher in the county. He was engaged in the real estate and stockbuying business for a long time, and was assessor in the old Fifth ward, but of recent years he has filled the position of constable in "Squire Atcherley's court and has proved a most faithful and efficient officer.

He was a member of Center Star Lodge, F. & A. M., of Cranville, and the funeral will be under the auspices of that body.

Mr. Cunningham has been twice married, his first wife being Miss Nina Hilbrant, to whom he was married November 20, 1860. Two children, William Cunningham of Hebron and Ida May, now Mrs. Dulaney, of California, survive. Mrs. Cunningham died February 8, 1865, and he was united in marriage to Mrs. Lucretia B. Winters, daughter of A. Ballou, October 3, 1867. To this union nine children were born, eight of whom survive. They are Charles B., Albert and Harry of Columbus, George of Newark, Mrs. Charles Foley of Philadelphia, Mrs. Walter Duncan of Clarksburg, W. Va., Mrs. Claude Garrison and Dora Cunningham of Newark. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Miriam Partridge of Cranville. Mr. Cunningham joined the Baptist church many years ago and has retained his membership in that church. Mr. Cunningham was a man greatly esteemed by all who knew him.

The funeral takes place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the interment being in Cedar Hill cemetery.

MISS JENNIE WILLIAMS

The many friends of Miss Jennie Williams of Columbus, in this city, were deeply pained to hear of her death, which occurred at her home in Columbus on Sunday. The funeral, which took place Tuesday afternoon, was attended by a number of Newark people. Miss Williams was a highly esteemed young woman of excellent character, whose death will be sincerely mourned.

MRS. HELEN CORDRAY DAVIS.

A husband and one child survive. The funeral will take place from the home at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, conducted by Rev. B. F. Patt, and at 10:30 from the Episcopal church, Rev. G. W. Van Fossen officiating. Interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Davis was one of the most estimable young women of Newark. Her death is profoundly mourned by many friends.

NO DROWNING

THOUGH SEVERAL ROWBOATS WERE UPSET.

One Report Had It That Jacob Frank, of Mansfield, Lost His Life at the Lake Monday.

A report reached Newark Monday evening and was repeated again Tuesday that several people had been drowned at Buckeye Lake on July 4.

One report had it that a man named Jacob Frank, of Mansfield, Ohio, had been drowned and that a friend of Frank's came to Newark and sent word of the drowning to the Franks family at Mansfield.

The Advocate made inquiry Tuesday noon from Manager W. D. Harris of Buckeye Lake and was in telephone communication with Buckeye Lake park, with Hamilton's, Shell Beach and other resorts along the lake but failed to confirm the rumor. Captain Den Fisher, manager of the fleet of steamers and launches on the lake, stated that one or two parties who were in rowboats capsized close to shore and then some Columbus parties who were in a sailboat had an accident and were stranded out in the water for a short time, but beyond getting wet no fatalities had resulted.

The management of Buckeye Lake park stated that every precaution had been taken at that place to prevent accident and that men, boats and appliances were ready and in waiting to give immediate assistance in case any accident had occurred.

CLUB WOMEN

Return To Columbus From Their Delightful Jaunt Among the Hills Near Granville.

The party of six Columbus women who left on Monday morning for a walking tour in the country around Granville, returned Friday evening—not foot-sore, nor weary, but full of the sweet, country air, and the spirit of hospitality which they declare has its home around Granville, says The Columbus Dispatch.

Four days and a half were spent in walking—about forty-five miles being covered in all.

Their nights were spent with most delightful people, Mrs. Van Kirk having all arranged when they reached her farm about five miles from town. Tuesday night was spent at Mr. John Montgomery's; Wednesday night at Mr. Russell Moore's, and Thursday night at Mr. Edward Jones'.

Royal hospitality was extended by everyone and the tourists feel that they are amply repaid for their walk. Sculptor Jones' grave in the Welsh cemetery was visited, as well as Sugar Loaf Hill and Denison college campus. Only once was refuge asked from the rain and at that farm house they received their best compliment, when the dear old lady sent after them these words which each echoed in her own heart: "I'm so glad you came a-walking."
